

"Peace is the reason I go to commune with Mother Earth and Peace is the gift I am offered in return.... Wonder is the glue that holds everything together". Richard Wagamese

Happy end of April! Cree: ayikipîsim - frog month

When quarter 4 classes started last Thursday, it was a reminder of the speed of time both at school and life in general. Our Indigenous ancestors did not measure time by a calendar, rather by the changing of seasons, events, winter and summer solstices, signs of nature and animals. They were in rhythm with nature. There is a Cree term: wahkotowin which helps describe this state of being, not only in rhythm with nature, but with all of creation, "all of our relations' and the sacred connection that ties everything together. Earth Day was last Thursday, and as I checked out various articles and online information, I gravitated to the writings of Richard Wagamese. I perceived his writing as a message reminding me to "slow down". For me, Wagamese speaks of the earth as a dear friend, someone we can cherish, rely on and trust. A thought might be to reach out to someone in need of friendship today or to slow down and appreciate the natural world, let's take care of each other and our environment. Have a great end to the month of April and a bright new beginning in May!
